Fire claims life of infant Officials search rubble of apartment for clues

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus fire officials are investigating the cause of an early morning blaze which took the life of an 18-month-old Romulus girl and gutted four units of an 8-unit apartment building near Eureka and Middle Belt Roads in Romulus.

Rosalind Yvette Ruffin, the daughter of Bobby and Mamie Ruffin of 15054 Streamway, perished in the blaze which ripped through the Ruffin home and to the roof of the southern half of the apartment building, located in a low-cost housing project.

Fire officials received a call for help at 2:23 p.m. yesterday morning and were at the scene within minutes, but did not arrive in time to save the child.

A Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol officer, Ptrl. Joe Dolencik, attempted to enter the blazing Ruffin apartment in an effort to save the child, but was overcome by smoke.

More than 25 persons had to be evacuated from the apartment building as the blaze raced up the stairway in the 2-story, 2-bedroom Ruffin home and caught on the roof of the apartment building, burning out units directly behind and adjacent to the residence.

According to preliminary reports, fire officials believe the blaze was started by a candle left burning in the living room of the Ruffin home by Mrs. Ruffin following a power blackout in southern Romulus which began in the early evening.

Mrs. Ruffin, who was treated at Wayne County General Hospital for an arm injury, told fire officials she was in bed when the fire began.

Mrs. Ruffin escaped the burning building with a 10-year-old daughter who suffered superficial burns about the face and head.

Fire officials indicated Ruffin was outside the unit talking with a friend when the blaze was reported.

The children of a neighbor to the north of the Ruffin unit escaped harm when a babysitter roused them from bed and had them leave the apartment.

Six fire fighting units answered the call to the base, including a ladder truck from the Taylor Fire Department.

Fire fighters were on the scene until mid-morning to ensure the fire was under control.

According to Romulus Fire Lt. Don Schmidt, the blaze raced through the building too fast to be contained.

Romulus' southernmost fire station was less than 500 feet from the scene of the fire.

"The Fire Department received about six or seven calls on the fire, but it went up so quick that little could be done," Schmidt said.

Neighbors of the Ruffins and the other three families whose units were destroyed have been housing the families. Friends are hoping the families can be moved into vacant townhouses in the complex.

A worker for the apartment complex said the Ruffin unit and one abutting it on the west side of the 8-unit building had two bedrooms while the two southernmost units adjacent to the Ruffin unit had three bedrooms each.

Fire officials indicated they suspected no foul play in the early morning blaze.

This stairway inside the Bobby Ruffin home in Romulus is the apparent route flames took to get to the upstairs bedroom where Ruffin's 18-month-old daughter, Rosalind Yvette, slept yesterday morning. Storm causes blackouts; Blamed for fire fatality

More than 4,500 families in the Van Buren Township-Romulus area were without power for varying lengths of times as 81-mile-per-hour winds ripped through the two communities downing lines in two circuits of the Detroit Edison Co.

Police officials in neither community reported any injuries due to the wind damage, however an 18-month-old Romulus girl perished in an early-morning fire yesterday when a candle lit by her mother to provide light during the blackout Monday apparently started a blaze in their townhouse.

eastern border of Van Buren Township were without lights for at least 30 minutes when one circuit of the Edison system went out due to trees falling across power lines running between the Darwin switching station at 50550 Bemis Road, Van Buren Township and the French Landing Station at 12100 Haggerty Road, Van Buren Township.

Officers of the Van Buren Fire Department were called to the Huron Valley Steel reclaiming site as a precautionary measure when equipment used to circulate cooling oil in a large smelting furnace went out during the power shortage.

Fire fighters from Van Buren trained hoses on the cooling equipment to insure that oil in the lines surrounding the furnace did not ignite as its temperature rose.

Officials of Huron Valley shut down the smelting operation to cool the furnaces.

More than 500 families in southern Romulus were without lights for at least an hour when power lines went down at 4:48 p.m. Monday.

It was not immediately known whether the townhouse development in which the 18-month-old girl perished in a blaze was located in the area affected by that blackout or another which affected the Middle Belt-Eureka area of Romulus.

Romulus officials reported no extensive damage due to the blackout.

Edison officials reported that most power was restored in the Van Buren area at 6:29 p.m. after it went out at 6:06 p.m.

However, some Van Buren residents reported a loss of power for more than 75 minutes on Monday.

Edison officials said there may have been other isolated incidents of power shortages when smaller lines were severed by falling tree limbs.

City employees return; Arbitrator decides fate

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus workers are back on the job today awaiting the decision of a single arbitrator on the fate of four fellow employees.

Members of Teamsters Local 214, which struck the city over a grievance during the past week, agreed to go back to work yesterday to allow an arbitrator to rule on the legality of Mayor Terry L. Troutt's firing of four city employees for negligence.

"It was the same thing offered the employees March 18 when the walkout began," Troutt said. "But the city was turned down then."

after his appointment and rule on the firings within seven days of the conclusion of the hearings.

The four employees were fired for negligence in the loss of a $1,200 water tapping machine while on duty, according to Troutt. The four claimed the machine was stolen.

"It's an unfortunate thing," Troutt said. "This whole matter could have been settled without a strike which violates the contract between the union and the city."

"But the employees walked out, and I refused to do anything until they were back to work."

The Teamsters claimed they were justified in their walkout since Troutt's firing of the four employees violated the union contract.

A meeting between the Teamsters and the city was set up for yesterday with both sides scheduled to discuss their selection of an arbitrator.

The arbitrator's ruling on the firing case will be binding, with the arbitrator given the right to uphold the city's firing of the employees, overturn the firings or mediate the differences over the firings.

Most of the arbitration will be split equally by both the city and the union.

The walkout did not result in any serious damage to city services, according to Troutt.

"It was odd, since during regular working days, we'll get one or two water main breaks a week," Troutt said. "But during the entire walkout, there was no problem."

The only operation really to suffer during the employee strife was road maintenance, according to the mayor.

"A couple of the roads are in pretty bad shape," he said.

Troutt added he was considering sending out a general mailing to all city residents to explain the reasons behind the slowdown in services.

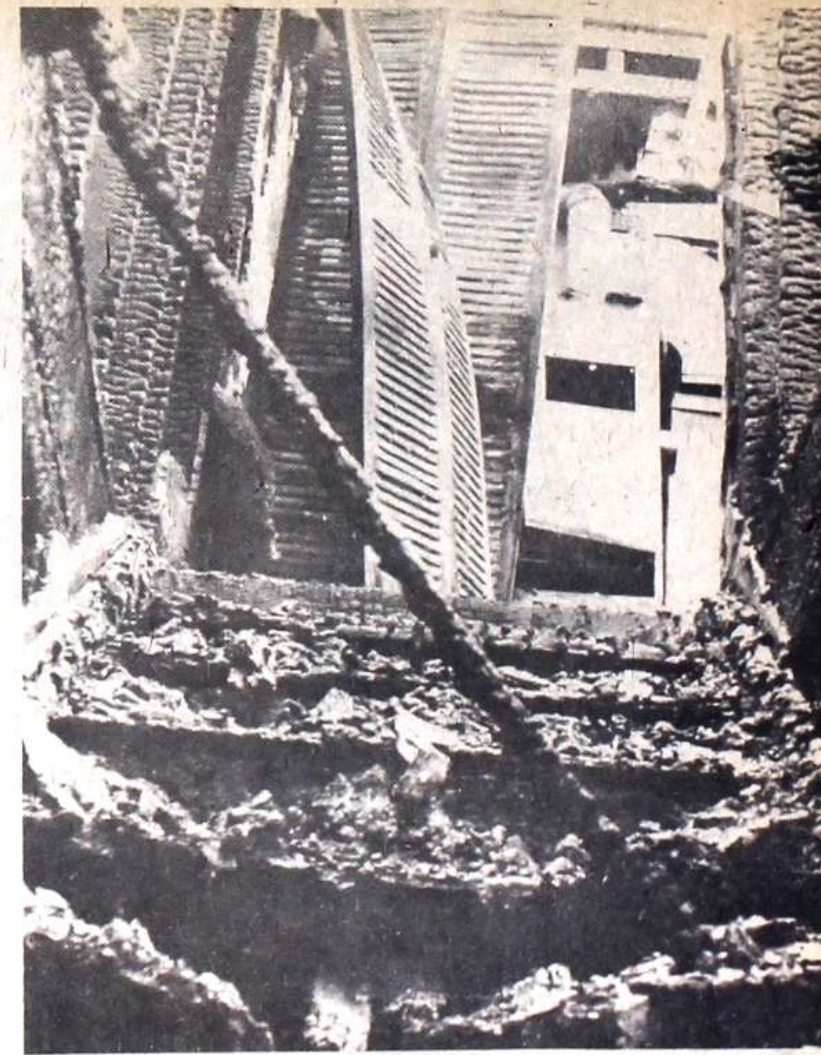

But he indicated he hadn't made a firm decision on the mailing.

A thing of the past

Four employees of Romulus paused while on picket-duty during the week-long strike which shut down city services. The workers walked the lines until Monday evening in protest of what they termed an illegal firing of four city employees for negligence. Eighty-four employees returned to work yesterday after agreeing to allow an arbitrator to settle the differences between the city and the union over the firings. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Greene to help plan county parade route

A member of the Van Buren Township Bicentennial Committee has been selected to work on a 9-member panel planning the parade route for the Wayne County parade, commemorating the nation's 200th birthday.

Walter Greene Jr. of Belleville is working with residents of Grosse Pointe Park, Detroit Harper Woods, and Livonia in selecting one of four routes for the parade, one of the longest to be staged in the United States, on May 4.

The four suggested routes are:

- Woodward Avenue from the State Fairgrounds to the Civic Center in downtown Detroit.
- Michigan Avenue between Wyoming (the Detroit-Dearborn City limits) and Greenfield Village.
- Telegraph Road from Dearborn north to the Wayne County-Oakland County line.
- The I-96 Freeway from Southfield to downtown Detroit.

14 break schedules to check into Beyer

Fourteen Belleville residents recently experienced a break in their day-to-day activities and checked into Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti for surgical and medical treatments.

Entering Beyer for surgery were Winnie Sanderson of Wayside Court, Blaine Maynard of Marlowe Street, Mrs. Jerry Minor of Belleville Road, Carri Warmanen of Parkside, Lynda Muntz of Belleville, Susan Carter of Sumpter Road, Mrs. Robert Gilson of Mott, Garrett VanMetre of Carmel, David Arquette of Martinsville Road and Joanna Lipkowski of Bemis Road.

Admitted for other medical care were Mrs. Ronald Jackson of Beverly Road, Diane Schmidt of Hamilton Court, Beverly Foley of Denton Road and Virgil Lockrow of W. Columbia.

In addition, six Belleville couples became proud parents with the births of their babies at Beyer.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Herbst of Sully Drive with a 7 lb. 9 oz. boy, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Dick with a 5 lb. 8 oz. girl, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Perciful of Pine with a 5 lb. 11 oz. girl, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wood of Wayside Drive with a 7 lb. 11 oz. boy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palazzolo of I-94 with a 7 lb. 6 oz. boy and Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Martin of Belleville with a 9 lb. 7 oz. boy.

Five churches unite for Good Friday talks

On Friday, five churches in the Belleville area will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. for Good Friday services in Bethany Baptist Church, 810 E. Huron River Drive in Belleville.

Those churches participating with Bethany are Trinity Baptist Church of Ypsilanti, Emmanuel Baptist Church of Belleville, Berean Baptist Church of Belleville and Zion Missionary Church of Belleville.

The subjects of discussion will be timely and deal with life, death, life after death and the victory that can be won, according to participants.

Scheduled speakers are Pastor David A. Brown, Pastor H. Franklin Miller, Pastor Bryan Fujii and Dr. James Bedford of Ypsilanti.

The 2-hour service will be divided into four periods of a half-hour each in which there will be a Scripture reading, a special number, a congregational hymn and a short message. The public is invited to attend.

New chapter to lobby

Handicapped grab government attention

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

In times when political pressure appears to be the only means available to make government stand up and take notice of a special interest group's needs, a group of Western Wayne County handicapped persons had decided to begin exercising on their own brand of political pressure.

Residents, headed by a Van Buren Township man, have formed a chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped (NAPH) in Western Wayne County to begin lobbying for changes in laws and building codes which will allow handicapped persons to help themselves.

"While there are many physically handicapped persons capable of work, and who want to work, they are barred from obtaining jobs for something as simple as a doorjamb," said Ralph Hedman, a leader in the NAPH, headquartered in the Log Cabin in Garden City. "If there were barrier-free designs throughout area communities which would allow those in wheelchairs to get by the door of an office, the handicapped could prove they're willing and able to work."

"But something as simple as a construction design which would tip over a wheelchair works against the handicapped.

"While the handicapped who may be seeking a job are told to go to local state employment offices, the construction of those offices prohibits the handicapped from applying and making it known they're available for work. "In addition, if a person in a wheelchair does get into a state employment office, he's treated as though he's got two heads."

It's the treatment the handicapped receive and the lack of facilities which allow the handicapped to function and compete with those who are not impaired physically which promoted the formation of the Western Wayne chapter of the NAPH.

"Right now, the organization is attempting to draw up its own list of job opportunities for members, in an effort to promote more employment," Hedman said. "If the state is unable to help us, because of something so simple as construction, we'll help ourselves while we lobby for compliance with laws requiring barrier-free design."

Hedman added that the group will be requesting federal funding to finance an employment service for the handicapped in the near future, while working now to obtain a job listing.

"We're contacting prospective employers and have obtained some job opportunities from them," Hedman said. "If the service is expanded, more can be helped."

In the meantime, Hedman is hoping for an improvement in NAPH membership to promote more understanding of the handicapped.

To join, a person need only attend a meeting of the NAPH held at 7:30 p.m. on the third Thursday of the month in Garden City. The meetings are in the Log Cabin in the Garden City Municipal Park, located at Merriman and Cherry Hill roads.

Licensing plan not new to city

A plan to license businesses in Romulus is nothing new. The Romulus City Council passed a business licensing ordinance in 1971 which raised such ire in the business community that the legislative body was forced to rescind its action. This time, Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar hopes to devise a more equitable licensing formula.

"The original ordinance apparently upset businesses in the community because of what appeared to be arbitrary fees," Folmar said. "This time, the city will try to make the ordinance as comprehensive as possible and to insure that the fee schedule also is equitable."

Folmar added that he has been meeting with the Romulus Building Department since he proposed the business licensing scheme last week in an effort to work out arrangements to include business inspections in an annual building inspection program being proposed by the building Department.

"Originally, I wanted the business licensing ordinance proposal to be separate from the building inspection proposal, so the business would be required to register with the city," Folmar continued. "But it now appears as though the two concepts could be joined into one ordinance."

Folmar said his announcement of the business licensing proposal brought only one complaint from the community last week.

Lawrence Plank, former chairman of the Romulus Democratic Club, told Folmar he had objections to the city licensing scheme, since it would duplicate the efforts made by the state to regulate certain businesses.

"The gist of what I got from our conversation was that Plank didn't object to the licensing program but to the duplication of effort," Folmar added. "Barber shops, liquor stores and other businesses need a state license, so on the face of it, it would appear as though there's a duplication of effort."

Folmar said he will work with Plank's suggestions to make a more equitable ordinance.

If he comes up with a plan with Plank, he'll be on good ground.

Plank led the successful petition drive against the city's original licensing ordinance.

January work incident touched off walkout

The chain of events which led to a general wildcat walkout of city employees over the firing of four of their fellow workers began in mid-January when two water tap crews simultaneously were out to repair leaks in opposite ends of the city.

According to Romulus reports on the incident which led to the loss of a $1,200 water tapping machine from a water and sewer repair truck, the machine last was on the city's inventory list Jan. 14 when it was assigned to a tapping crew which was repairing a leak on Inkster Road.

The crew which had the machine, consisting of the four men fired for negligence by the city's mayor, had finished its work when another crew on Beverly Road radioed the city's Department of Public Works (DPW) requesting a part to complete repairs on a broken line.

The crew on Inkster road radioed it would meet the crew working on the Beverly break and joined the second crew late in the afternoon.

According to reports filed by the four employees accused of negligence, while at the Beverly location all four left their vehicle to inform residents in the area of the water break that their service would be shut down for repairs.

The four indicated the tapping machine may have been taken from their truck while they were away.

According to Mayor Terry L. Troutt, no truck with city equipment should have been left alone.

Troutt used that stand as a basis for firing the employees.

According to city reports, the tapping machine was reported missing Jan. 15. The 4-man crew speculated the equipment was stolen in a break-in of the DPW building.

However, police records show no evidence of forced entry to the building and no other equipment was reported missing that day.

Contract half-way repaid

Collections are reported to be nearing the half-way mark in doing away with a nearly $26,000 debt owed by a Romulus citizens' group to a Troy electrical contractor. Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said a select citizens committee is nearly half finished with visiting the larger taxpayers in Romulus to solicit contributions to the "Project: Let's Light the Way" fundraising drive.

"Light the Way" was set up to solicit funds for purchasing lights at several city and school-owned baseball diamonds and the Romulus High School athletic field. The committee collected $5,000 last summer and contracted with Jacobs Electrical Construction Co. of Troy to erect the lights. Jacobs Electric completed the work and was given the $5,000.

The company sued for the remaining $26,000 owed it three weeks ago, but agreed to hold off on the suit until the city had the opportunity to raise the funds.

Storm interrupts power

VAN BUREN TWP. — Power was out for more than 2,000 Romulus-Van Buren Township residents Monday night when a circuit within the Detroit Edison Co. service area was downed. A majority of the residents went without power between 6:06 p.m. and 7:23 p.m., according to Edison officials. The Van Buren Fire Department was called out during the power blackout to play a stream of water on oil cooling units in the Huron Valley Steel reclaiming operation. The power shortage shut down cooling units, allowing oil in smelting furnaces to heat dangerously and threaten ignition.

Union, boards stymie legislation

By WES THORP
Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau

Efforts in the Legislature to pass a teacher strike bill seem to have been stymied by the adamant positions of teacher unions and local school boards. The two sides have been the focus of a controversy which threatens to erupt this fall in the form of mass teacher strikes, keeping school doors closed long past their traditional starting time in September.

The two groups—except for one brief moment—have refused to participate in legislative efforts to draft a new collective bargaining law for school employees.

During recent deliberations of a special House committee to draft a compromise collective bargaining bill, the two sides sat on the sidelines, with their hands folded and their mouths shut.

When pressed for a response by the special House committee, headed by Rep. William R. Keith (D-Garden City), the two sides would only acknowledge that there were problems among themselves in the negotiating of their work agreements.

The exception to this was during a hearing of the Keith committee when Michigan Education Association (MEA) President Keith Geiger suggested that his teacher union might be willing to soften its position. And the head of the school board association, John Dodge suggested that his group was willing to do likewise.

Since then it almost has been completely silent in two camps of a labor dispute which reared up most recently in Wayne County's Crestwood and Garden City school districts.

Meanwhile, the Keith committee, composed of legislators, who are former school board members and former teachers, drafted a bill which would establish a mechanism for teachers and school boards to use while negotiating their contracts. The committee hoped that its proposal would reduce the number of teacher strikes each year, while being fair to both sides.

While the Keith committee bill lies stranded in the House Labor Committee, the two sides have been shooting a steady barrage of criticism at the bill which provides for mediation, compulsory arbitration and teacher strikes under certain circumstances.

The state's largest teacher union, the MEA, with 85,000 members have responded to the bill with a blistering press release which makes the Keith proposal sound like it would result in the crumbling of the public school system.

The MEA described it as being "hostile, anti-employee, mischief making and lengthy." It continues that the bill "is a very bad bill which amendments would not make acceptable."

The Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB) is a little more moderate in its position, but has yet to reveal whether its in favor of the bill or opposed to it.

And neither side has presented a proposal of its own for the Legislature to consider.

State lawmakers, as a result, have not yet made up their mind on what course of action to take. Because of the polarization of opinion about what should be done, progress on a teacher strike bill is at a temporary standstill.

But the specter of having more than 300 teacher contracts expire this fall with each one representing a potential strike, the Legislature is determined to take some kind of action.

The only question is when and what the action will be.

Teachers and school boards still are in a position to have an influential hand in writing the legislation, however, if the two sides wait until September and if there are a large number of school strikes, the Legislature undoubtedly will take the initiative.

And the result, more than likely, would be a law which would not be pleasing to either side—the teachers or the school boards.

'Fight' hot lunch cutback

To The Editor: I am not entirely against helping the people of foreign countries who are less fortunate than we who live in this our "horn of plenty" country. But it does cause me to wonder why and how we can spend millions to help the starving on the other side of the world when we have plenty of our own countrymen going without the basics of food.

How can our federal government justify their intention to cut the school lunch budget, thus causing what will end up to be our paying more for hot lunches. This cutback also will create further unemployment for the food service workers because no money...no jobs.

The same week that this cutback was announced, there was a feature on television showing some people in Detroit so hungry that they resorted to rummaging through garbage cans for meager scraps of edible discards. Our country is so busy helping the less fortunate of other countries and it is time to look to home and our own less fortunate. Cutting the school lunch budget is not exactly helping to improve our own deteriorating economic situation.

How can it be changed? How and when will it all end? It is up to you...you are the one who can create change. You are the one who voted into office the people who decide where and how your money is spent.

It will do no good to complain later when you have to dole out more money for your child's hot lunch. Now is the time to let your congressman know that cutting the school lunch budget is just a bit too much.

The schools have information and letters available to you. Support this drive to reverse the government's intention to cut the school lunch budget.

New PSC procedures may help utilities

By BOB BERG,
Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

Second of 2 - parts

The part of the utility picture that makes the most impact on most citizens is the monthly bill.

Continued service is taken for granted so little thought is given to the fact electricity and gas always are there when the switch is turned on. After all, for most people electricity and gas always have been as close as the nearest wall outlet or stove.

But when that bill arrives each month, there is a momentary pause as a portion of the month's income is sent off to whoever is furnishing electricity and - or gas. For years that rate was small and paid without much thought.

But in the past few years it has begun a sharp increase and the outlook is that it will go much higher.

For many customers whose immediate concern was their own pocketbook, not the financial condition of an impersonal utility, questions suddenly arose: "How can they do that? Isn't there any control on what they charge? Isn't somebody keeping an eye on them?"

Well, somebody does have control, total control, over what utilities charge. It is the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) and it sets rates for all public utilities, except municipally owned ones, providing electricity, natural gas, telephones, intrastate railroad, water and truck transportation within the state.

operated to see if they were being run as efficiently as possible and to see if they were planning to meet future needs.

The past two years has seen a rapid increase in PSC staff and modernizing of its operations.

At the end of February probably came the most significant change since Rosenberg took over — a complete set

Robert Hartwell, executive vice-president for finance of Detroit Edison. "But all it allows us to do is raise rates. It takes a full year after the increase is granted to realize the $86 million increase we got this year, for example, since that figure is based on a full year of charging the new rates."

"That means that for 1975 we'll be charging rates which the figures show should have been charged in 1973. Not 1974 figures, they also will project all their financial needs including bonds they need to sell to finance construction through 1975. For the first time the commission will be examining as part of the record figures other than past costs.

The second and third sections to the new rules break even more new ground as they, in effect, force the utilities to spread all their cards on the table.

'It ought to accelerate the consideration of rate cases...'

of rules detailing how the two major electrical utilities — Consumers Power and Detroit Edison — will file all future rate increase requests. Everyone involved, both the utilities and the regulators, agree the change was needed and most agree the new rules are a sound step toward more efficient regulation.

For the first time, the commission will be considering more than figures from past operations in its deliberations.

In the past, a company wanting a rate increase would close its books for the year and then submit its rate increase request. For instance, the rate increases granted to Detroit Edison and Consumers earlier this year came on cases filed on the basis of 1973 financial data.

On top of that is the fact the full benefits of the rate increase aren't realized until 12 months have passed after it is granted.

"People seem to think that once a rate increase is granted, that money immediately becomes available," said many businesses could make a profit paying 1975 costs with 1973 income."

The new rules change all that, both by streamlining the process and by taking into account fresher figures.

From now on rate increase requests will be divided into three sections. The first section will, in turn, be divided into three parts.

First off, the utility will submit figures asking for a rate increase based on the way the commission has ruled in the past. If the commission ruled that only part of the advertising budget could be counted as an expense to be regained through rate increases, the utility must fill out the first part of the increase on that basis.

Secondly, the utility will file figures showing what rates it would charge if the PSC ruled completely the way the utility wanted on all questions of what is an allowable expense and what isn't.

Thirdly, the utility will project its figures 12 months past the end of the test year used in the rate request. Thus, when Edison and Consumers file their new rate increase requests based on the second section the utility will project one, three and five years into the future the demand it expects to fill from its customers, how much construction it will take to meet these demands, how much it is going to cost to complete that construction and what kind of rates will be needed in those years to stay healthy and finance the construction.

In the rate cases to be filed this year, Edison and Consumers will project their needs for the years 1976, 1978 and 1980.

The third section will require the utilities to file their most current construction plans as well as plans for financing that construction. If those plans aren't enough to meet the needs projected in section two, then the utility will have to outline what the effects will be, in its opinion, of falling short.

What the new rules do then, in effect, is elevate the rate setting process from a random approach, catch-up basis and put it on a more organized, long-term basis. It's the difference between trying to drive a car looking only out the rear window and driving it with visibility in all directions.

Both companies say they ought to be a good thing, especially in terms of simplifying and therefore speeding up the ratemaking process.

"It ought to accelerate the consideration of rate cases," Hartwell said. "Our last one took 9½ months for the commission to decide. It will eliminate thousands of pages of testimony and can mean earlier increases. That will be helpful."

Consumers Power officials say the same thing — anything that speeds up decisions is a good thing that will help them regain their financial health.

rules were adopted with objections to the first section from commission member William Ralls, who contends it isn't a good idea to file new cases along the exact guidelines the last one was decided upon. Ralls contends that has the effect of locking in past decisions, both good and bad, by the commission.

But he supports the second and third sections anyway and had proposed legislation to do the same thing earlier in the year.

As with anything new, there may be some problems as the rules start to work, but they were drawn up very carefully by the PSC's electrical staff and no one expects many problems. Instead, they say it has to be a step forward to have a faster process using more modern figures and taking a close look at how today's decision will affect the state down the road.

Between police, people

New deputies challenged to rebuild 'kinship'

Twenty-eight new sheriff's deputies, including two from Romulus, graduating from the Wayne County Sheriff's Police Training Academy, have been challenged to "reestablish the former kinship that existed in the past between law officer and private citizen."

County Board Chairman, Roscoe L. Bobo, the principal speaker during recent graduation exercises at the training academy in Inkster near Westland.

The deputies are part of a graduating class of 42, including officers from other police departments in Wayne County, who have completed nine weeks of basic training. Bobo, a former assistant police chief in Ecorse, told the group that law enforcement agencies suffer from a bad public image that must be corrected before police work can reach maximum effectiveness.

He said good relations between police departments and the community would be more effective against crime than the $39 million spent through the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice System Coordinating Council since its inception in 1971.

"A good public image is absolutely essential," Bobo said. "You must relate to the community because you need the understanding and trust of its citizens.

"Despite all the sophisticated mechanical and electronic equipment we use, there is no crime detection device as efficient or effective as plain information, help and cooperation from private citizens."

"Whatever modest success I achieved as a police officer in the City of Ecorse, I gained because the people in the community understood, trusted and respected me," Bobo continued.

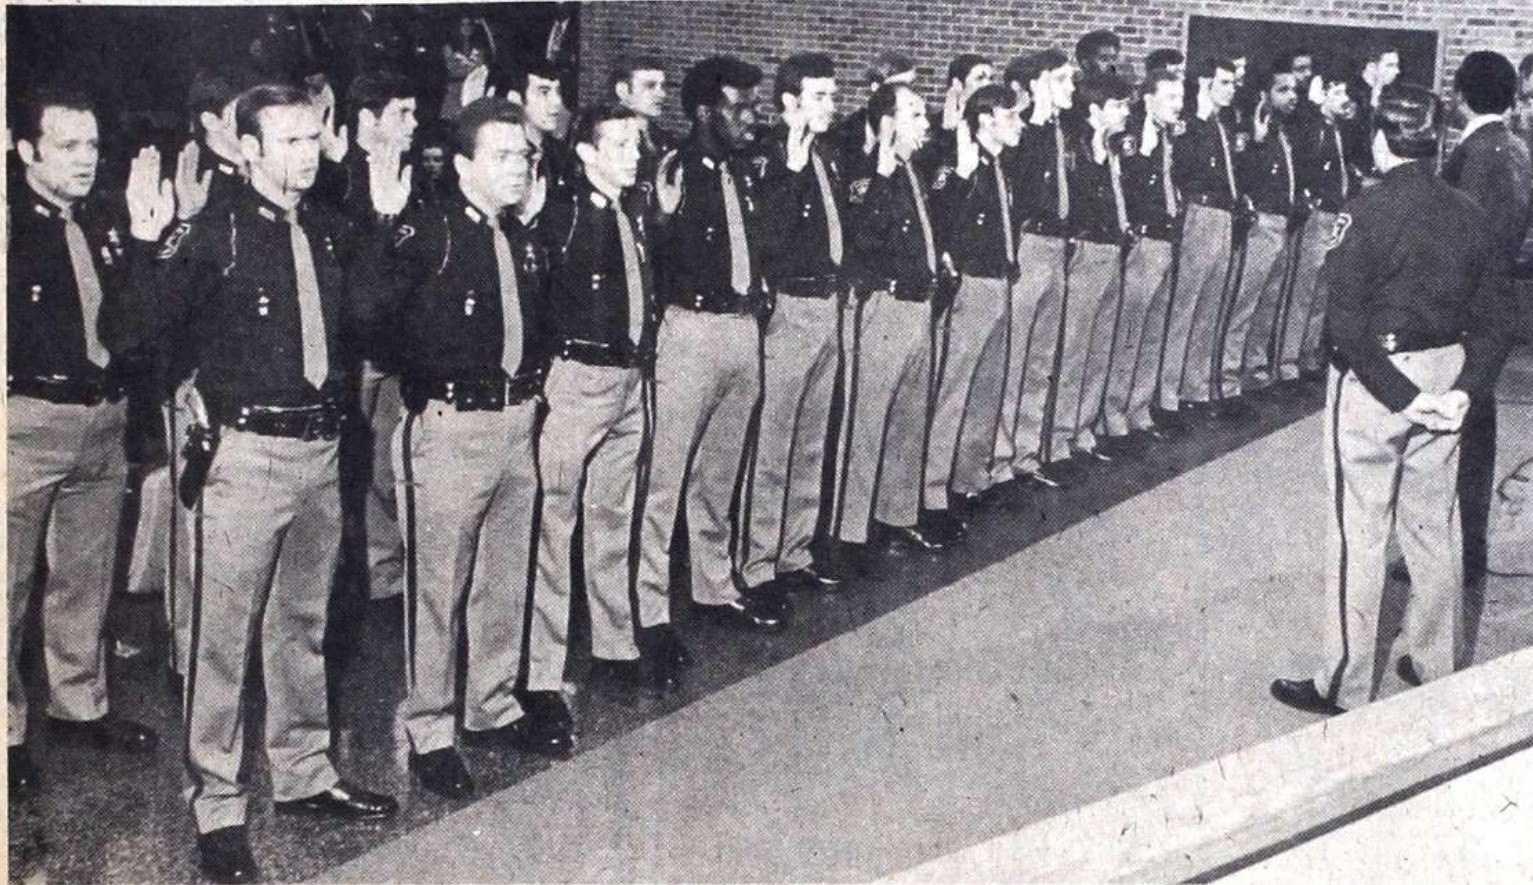

"It made my work a lot easier, more enjoyable and a lot safer, and that's the way I want it for all of you," he told the class.

Prior to the graduation, Sheriff William Lucas said the class is the first to have field survey work included in its training.

In the field survey project, the cadets sampled attitudes during visits to neighborhood homes and business establishments and asked for suggestions to improve sheriff's services, Lucas added.

"We've extended the mini-station concept one step further," he said. "Instead of simply making it easier for the people to come to the police, we are taking the police to the people."

The Romulus residents sworn-in as members of the latest class of Wayne County Sheriff's deputies were Kenneth Laskaska and Dennis McVicar.

FACE CHALLENGE — Shown as they were sworn into the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, 28 new deputies later were given a challenge by Wayne County Board Chairman Roscoe L. Bobo to attempt to recreate the feeling of "kinship" that once existed between the lawman and the private citizen.

"It will require substantial time and effort, but if you as individuals and as a team can overcome this bleak image of law enforcement, it will pay dividends many times over," he added. "Try to imagine how pleasant it would be to work under conditions of decades ago when the cop on the beat was the most respected guy in the neighborhood."

"Then, everybody turned to the cop for help, and they in turn helped him."

Bobo bluntly faulted police agencies, "not the citizens," for the breakdown of cooperation between the two that he said has "fallen to depths that seriously hamper police work."

"I do not believe that there necessarily is a correlation between an increase in crime and a decrease in respect for police officers," he stated. "Because more criminals walk the streets is no reason why policemen should not still be respected by those who are not criminals."

He urged the group to "face the handicap head-on and buckle down trying to reestablish the former kinship."

RECYCLED CONCRETE — Workers are continuing to widen the Belleville Road causeway on Belleville Lake with broken concrete from work being done on nearby I-94. The concrete pieces have been dumped along the sides of the causeway to give it added strength after engineers determined that water pressure from the lake was holding the bulk of the weight on the causeway's sides. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

Array of talent wows judges

An audience of students' friends, parents and classmates recently was entertained at Elwell Elementary School's first Talent Show, featuring 25 acts that included gymnastics, several types of dance, singing, pantomime, musical performances and a puppet show.

The 1½-hour show was held in the school multipurpose room.

"The only unpleasant moment was in having to choose a winner," said one member of the judging panel, selected from the Elwell staff.

After what was described as "considerable agonizing," the judges awarded first prize to fifth-grader Lori Vicchy, whose gymnastic feats elicited appreciative applause.

Second place was won by Debbie Sturtz and Sandra St. Cyr, third graders, for a tap-dance routine, and third place honors went to kindergarten Tracie Osborne and Karin Oliver for their song-and-dance rendition of the "Bunny Rabbit Blues."

A special originality award was presented to sixth-grader Cindy Griffith who, disguised as a little old lady, played a modern piano piece.

Great Lakes cruiser returns to Michigan

The Great Lakes luxury cruise ship South American is coming back to Michigan waters.

Once considered the finest pleasure craft of her kind, she won an 11th hour reprieve from the wrecker's torches when William S. Mellus, managing director of Mellus Flagship Associates, signed an agreement to purchase the 321-foot vessel.

The buyer is editor and publisher emeritus and historian of the Panax Corp.'s Mellus newspapers in suburban Detroit, which he sold to Panax in 1969 after 36 years in publishing.

Moored at a graveyard for aging ships in Camden, N.J., the South American was scheduled to be broken up and melted for her scrap value within 10 days.

Spurred by the persistent effort of Robert Carr, director of the Mackinac Island Chamber of Commerce, to save the vessel, Mellus formed Mellus Flagship Associates March 13, met with the ship's owners March 16, and completed the transaction March 17.

In a prepared statement Mellus said:

"We plan to restore the ship to her original beauty and splendor, recreating the charm and allure of an era when cruise ships were so popular and the South American was known as Michigan's lady of the lakes."

"Our plans call for refurbishing and reconditioning the great ship and berthing her at Mackinac Island to make Bob Carr's dream come true.

"When renovation has been completed, she will have 238 newly decorated state rooms, 26 deluxe parlor suites, a grand salon ballroom, several restaurants and a supper club."

"We too, plan, an unusual tourist attraction — a museum to be filled with historical artifacts that trace Michigan's history back to the days of the Indians and the exciting period of the lumber barons." Mellus added that his group was convinced that acquisition of the ship is a "very sound business venture" that has the nostalgic quality of a sentimental journey back to Michigan's glorious era of great cruise ships.

"And all members of Mellus Flagship Associates are sentimental natives of Michigan," he said.

If you're ready

How you finish in tax race depends on you

Filling out an income tax return is like running a race: how well you do will depend, in part, on how well you prepare. What jogging and pushups do for the runner, digging through personal records does for the tax preparer.

This is true whether you prepare the return yourself, or have it done for you.

Someone has to uncover all income, deductible expenses and other data. In most cases, that someone is necessarily the taxpayer himself.

Take income, for example. It is not difficult to calculate what you earned in salary and wages, since employers are required to supply those totals to you on the W-2 form.

But consider some of the other types of income—both taxable and nontaxable—there may be: dividends, interest, tips, tax refunds, rents, royalties, gambling winnings, prizes, awards, scholarships, meals and other payments in kind from an employer; capital gains, alimony, gifts, inheritances, insurance proceeds, social security and pension benefits, stock options, unemployment benefits or sick pay.

Overlooking any additional income may lead to trouble with the tax collector. Conversely, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, overlooking any of the deductible costs incurred can cost you money in overpaid taxes.

But where do you begin? If you pay by check, your bank records are a good starting place. The stubs or cancelled checks will remind you of expenditures, while deposit receipts will recall items of income that may have slipped your mind.

Amounts of dividends received, capital gains or losses and brokers' fees may be found in stock market transaction records. Interest payments or receipts may be listed on bank statements. Receipts from stores and service firms may lead to some tax reductions. Grocery, utility and maintenance bills, for example, can help substantiate that you provided more than half the support of a person claimed as a dependent.

As you become involved in the digging process, you may find yourself developing a sharpened tax awareness—a feeling for less obvious but very real tax-saving possibilities.

If you pay someone to prepare your tax return, your own thorough examination of your records is essential for letting the tax preparer do a better job of minimizing your tax liability as well as reducing the cost of return preparation.

Tires with studs will be taboo in Michigan after March 31

Motorists may no longer use studded snow tires on Michigan roads after March 31. That is the last day studs may legally be used in the state.

Public Act 138, passed in 1973, bans metal tire studs of the type now in use in the state on and after April 1.

However, if the studs are removed, the snow tires may be used on highways after this winter. An Auto Club official said persons with a pair of pliers and a strong wrist can remove the studs, or most tire dealers will do the job for $3 to $5 per tire.

Auto Club added that if studs are developed which will reduce road surface damage to 25 percent of that now caused by tungsten carbide studs, the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation could approve their use.

C. of C. adds five to board

Members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce have elected five persons to its board of directors.

During polling March 17, the chamber members elected Patricia Cullin, Mike Kirila, Daryl Raymond Jr., Richard Muse and Dorothy Schroeder to the chamber's board.

The five replace John Barber, Dale Kaulitz, Howard Stinehower and Harold Roberts, whose terms expired.

Mrs. Cullin is the Van Buren Township clerk.

Kirila is a manager for the National Bank of Detroit. Raymond works for the Henry R. Deering Insurance Agency.

Dr. Muse is a member of the Van Buren Board of Education and is an optometrist.

Mrs. Schroeder is owner of the D.R. Schroeder real estate.

Ballots in the election were cast by dues paying members of the chamber who had joined prior to March 14.

The five new persons will bring the Board of Directors up to 15 members.

Prior to the election, 14 persons served on the board.

All five new members will serve 3-year terms on the board.

Blood center set up

The Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross will be establishing a temporary blood donating center in Romulus.

The Red Cross will establish the center between noon and 6 p.m. April 7 at St. Aloysius Church, 11280 Ozga Road in Romulus.

All area residents are invited to participate in the program.

Those who donate either can register for their own blood bank or for the St. Aloysius blood bank.

Any person who donates blood qualifies his immediate family in the Red Cross blood bank.

Belleville Rotary plans Lily Parade

The Belleville Rotary Club, with the help of St. Anthony's Catholic Church and the Honor Society of Belleville High School, will be conducting its annual Lily Parade starting at 3 p.m. Friday.

Area residents will be asked for contributions for the Easter Seal Society as part of the parade, which will run until Easter.

The Lily Parade is one of the major fundraising drives for the Belleville Rotary Club.

A lot of people have Sentry people. The folks who have all their auto insurance needs handled by us. Sentry Insurance. Why us? For a very good, old fashioned reason. We don't act like a big insurance company even though that's what we are. So our adjusters will get Sentry policyholders a new bumper if the chrome is cracked. We don't just get it straightened and spray some new paint on. Our way of looking at it is: whatever your auto insurance needs are, you're entitled to person-alized protection. The kind of protection an adjuster would want for his own car. See the Sentry man above for all your auto insurance. You'll like his attitude.

A big insurance company doesn't have to act like a big insurance company.

Spaces open at new center

The Allen Dee residential center for the elderly still has space available for senior citizens in its Wayne center.

Located at 31270 Van Born Road in Wayne, the care center offers senior citizens an opportunity to obtain housing without the traditional intensive care of a nursing home.

Though residents at the Allen Dee center in Wayne, and a similar center in Fraser, are supervised, they are free to participate in community activities.

Three meals a day are provided residents of the home, but their care isn't as confining as that in a traditional convalescent home, according to Allen Dee administrators.

Information on residency at the Allen Dee center can be obtained by calling Cindy Stevens at 326-1800.

The Wayne Allen Dee center is located on Van Born Road just west of Merriman Road.

Jaycees foot tuition for nursery schoolers

Four full-paid tuition grants intended to enable children to attend nursery school who might otherwise not be able to attend, have been approved for payment by the Romulus Jaycees. The grants are made on the recommendation of the Oakbrooke Nursery with the approval of the Jaycees. Oakbrooke Nursery is a joint effort of the Western Wayne County YWCA and the Republic Management Co.

The program has been set up for the residents of Oakbrooke subdivision in Romulus with the aim of improving the attitudes and abilities of the children that participate.

Each child is taught to accept what he is and through approval is taught to behave in an accepting, considerate manner, according to nursery school sponsors.

Children are provided opportunities to satisfy their curiosity and thus attain an increased desire to learn.

The Jaycees said they are supporting the school because it fits in with their overall program of self-improvement through personal involvement.

Cherryhill Squadron holds drill competition

The third individual drill competition of Detroit Metropolitan Group 16 of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) was held last Wednesday at Romulus Junior High School, with the Cherry Hill Cadet Squadron as one of five units participating in the competition.

Participants were rated on proper wear of the uniform and skill in executing drill movements in each of several categories ranging from cadet recruits to seniors.

Judges were three Naval and Air Force ROTC cadets from the University of Michigan. A first place plaque and runner-up award was awarded to the top top individuals in each category.

Village expands to welcome spring

Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn welcome spring with an extension of hours and services to Western Wayne County visitors.

In the village, the winter schedule of guided tours has ended. Guides or craftsmen now are stationed in more than 25 of the historic homes and shops. Nearly 25 more buildings, many with interpretative tape recordings, are open for visitors to walk into or look in.

Throughout the village, craftsmen are at work demonstrating the skills of their forebears. The blacksmith, glass blower, potter, silversmith, spinner and weaver are busy seven days a week. Demonstrations of rug hooking and dried flower arranging also may be seen.

On Friday, the Greenfield Village Railroad begins daily operation, taking visitors on a 2-mile trip around the village perimeter. Carriage tours are offered daily. Model Ts and surreys also begin weekend operation on Friday, followed by haywagons on April 12, pony wagons on May 3 and the paddle-wheel steamboat Suwanee on May 15.

Park opens for weekend operation in mid-April. Here, visitors may sample such turn-of-the-century entertainments as an arcade complete with antique game machines and tests of skill and a 1913 merry-go-round with 40 delightful animals. Both begin weekend operation on April 12; daily operation in May.

The village really comes alive with activity May 15-18 for the Country Fair of Yesteryear. This 26th annual event recalling the excitement of old-time rural fairs features parades, marching bands, a colorful variety show and demonstrations of home crafts.

Spring fever also reigns in Henry Ford Museum where 14 acres of displays tell the story of America's development in the mechanical and decorative arts. Along the Street of Early American Shops, the candlemaker, broom maker, tinsmith and pewterer are at work.

Village hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

weekends and holidays. Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

A separate admission to either the village or the museum is $2.50 for adults and $1 for children.

Players revive classic with 'Rumpelstiltskin'

The Greenfield Village Players have revived their popular production of "Rumpelstiltskin" in the Henry Ford Museum Theater.

Originally presented in 1969, this adaptation of the ageless Grimm fairy tale proved so successful, the Players decided to bring it back again this Easter season.

The delightful, well-known story remains intact — with a few intriguing embellishments, of course. The miller's lovely daughter still must spin roomfuls of straw into gold for the greedy king. And the mysterious Rumpelstiltskin still offers to complete the task for her with just one catch — that she give him her first born child.

Interspersed with comedy and laced with nostalgia, "Rumpelstiltskin" is sure to delight young and old alike. The children can even meet the Village Players after each performance. Tickets are priced at $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children 14 and under.

Matinee performances of this enchanting tale are scheduled for 2 p.m. March 29 and 31; April 1-5, 12, 19 and 26; and May 3 and 10. Special performances for school groups will be staged March 24-27.

Students shift to high in plans for musical

Anouilh's "The Waltz of the Toreadors" received the New York Critics' Circle award for best play by a foreign author. Translated by Lucienne Hill, "Waltz" is about a retired philandering general unable to leave his railing, invalid wife. One moment he considers himself to be quite the toreador with the ladies and a hollow failure the next. The sadness is purged by laughter for the treatment is broadly comical and often farcical.

In the Hilberry production, General St. Pe is played by

In the tradition of its past successful all-school productions, Belleville High School will bring to the stage Meredith Willson's exciting musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Work toward the production began earlier this month, with a mass meeting for all interested students. Nearly 150 such students attended. Following the meeting, auditions were held for acting and orchestra parts, and production committees were formed. Director Louise Pitcher, assistant director Karen Sinkus and technical director Glenn Curtis are working with more than 15 faculty members and the student body to prepare for performances on May 8-10 and 16-17. Those involved currently are busy rehearsing, making costumes, sets, lighting, programs and ushering schedules in preparation for opening night.

Tips help to spot 'hot' buys

Rising automobile and gasoline prices are giving many Western Wayne County consumers cause to buy used cars, despite auto manufacturers' rebates.

In used cars, buyers see better fuel economy and lower initial prices as an incentive to relieve tightening family budgets.

Potential used car buyers should be careful, though, according to automobile theft investigators. Auto theft is booming in some areas, and when people are looking for "good deals" in used cars, professional auto thieves are never far away.

Michael J. Murphy, president of the National Automobile Theft Bureau has some advice on how a few simple investigation techniques can help the average consumer reduce his probability of being duped by auto thieves.

— Know the seller. When possible, buy your used car from a reputable dealer. If a dealer also has been duped into buying a stolen vehicle and innocently sells it to you, chances are his bond or insurance policy will cover both his loss and yours.

— Check the vehicle identification number (VIN). This is a unique number assigned to each vehicle by the manufacturer and registered with the authorities. Derivatives of the VIN are found on the engine, transmission and other parts of the vehicle.

If you have any doubts about the VIN's authenticity, take the car to a new car dealer who handles the same make or go to the local police or highway patrol station.

— Check the paint and interior. A freshly painted vehicle, particularly a late model, may indicate coverup work by auto thieves.

— Check the keys and locks. Be sure you get at least one set of the original manufacturer's keys, not a replacement set. Many manufacturers give two sets of original keys, but you should ask for all sets.

— Don't be afraid to ask questions. A legitimate seller always will cooperate with you in verifying facts.

— Complete all paperwork at the time of sale. Never pay for or accept a used car with a promise that title and registration papers will be delivered later.

"Even if all possible precautions are taken by the buyer, he can still end up buying a stolen vehicle," said Murphy. "The best general advice I can give a used car buyer is to take nothing for granted."

Shadows of crisis threaten fragile detente

(Editors Note: John P. McGoff, President of Panax Corporation, publishers of Associated Newspapers, recently returned from a trip abroad that included briefing sessions aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Saratoga. The Saratoga was on maneuvers in the Mediterranean Sea at the time. This analysis was written following interviews with chief military officers on duty at sea and at shore installations in Europe and Africa.)

The complexities and perils of an abundance of international crises seem likely to cast darkening shadows of the fragile Soviet-American detente. From a historical perspective the United States and its friends have seen convulsive changes and now confront situations they never had to face before. For American planners the spotlight has swung away from Southeast Asia to a vast, extremely sensitive area stretching from Portugal to Central Asia and from the northern Mediterranean coast to East Africa and the Indian Ocean.

Never in its 26 years has the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) been up against the sort of political dangers it faces today from changing orientations, shifts in attitudes from friendly to unfriendly, and clashing interests, all threatening to fragment the alliance along its entire southern flank.

A huge segment of the world, now Area No. 1, now presents a variety of crises of sub-situations that form parts of a whole picture: oil, the flood of arms into the Middle East, the Arab-Israeli conflict, Greece-Turkey-Cyprus, and the political struggles going on within some of the NATO nations themselves.

Compared with today's picture, that of the early cold war days was easy to understand. After World War II, Soviet-American tension centered in turn on Europe, then Iran, Greece, and Turkey, then suddenly on Korea and northeast Asia. Equally suddenly, the focus shifted to the Middle East and then in the 1960s to Southeast Asia. In the 1970s, U.S. military withdrawal from Southeast Asia divested it of much of the strategic meaning American planners had attached to it.

In fact, the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war began a process that inexorably pushed the spotlight back to the Middle East where crisis begets crisis. Now it all has a look of formidable and menacing complexity.

Since World War II the United States has considered the Mediterranean area vital to American security. Of all of the seas in the world, none has greater strategic significance than those which lap Europe's southern shores. Two cardinal objectives of western planning must be: maintaining the free use of these waters at all times, and denying their use to an enemy in times of war.

Freedom of the seas is essential if the U.S. is to uphold its commitment to the support and defense of western Europe. And that, in its simplest terms, is why the U.S. maintains a naval presence in Europe. However, now there are doubts about the future of what Winston Churchill once called Europe's "soft underbelly." And those doubts are rising at a time when the Soviet fleet, highly visible and challenging for some years, has made itself a fact of life, outnumbering the U.S. SIXTH Fleet almost two to one.

Oil, only a year ago and still a major crisis of the SIXTH Fleet, and NATO forces may turn out to be among the lesser worries in the light of what has been happening all along the Mediterranean. These events, in fact, help explain a Soviet anxiety for a windup of the European security conference which, relieving Moscow of uncertainties there, can permit it to train a large share of its attention to the promise of attractive dividends for the international Communist cause.

ON NATO's southwest flank exist the ingredients for a death potion for detente. Since the overthrow of the Portuguese dictatorship last April, Portugal has been in turmoil. Communists battle moderates for control. An election for a constituent assembly is scheduled in April, but the Communists, increasingly strong in the labor unions and armed forces and with no prospect of dominating the voting, might try to abort the program with a coup. Portugal, as a nation of peoples leaning toward the west and the United States, recently demonstrated its outpouring of gratitude and friendliness when sailors of the aircraft carrier Saratoga visited Lisbon for several days. No incidents. Just old-fashioned friendliness to their long time friends and allies. In most cases, however, the people do not count; and should a coup occur, Moscow will have another ally whose geography commands ingress to the Mediterranean at Gibraltar.

NATO's southeast flank is damaged. The United States could not keep both Greece and Turkey happy and now is estranged from both. American SIXTH Fleet families in Athens literally are cut off from their sailor husbands since American naval vessels are no longer welcome in Greek ports. Turkey, stung by a congressional cutoff of arms, promptly after the U.S. ban went into effect proclaimed a separate state in the part of Cyprus it occupies. This accomplished fact would seem to make the perennial Cyprus conflict even less negotiable than before to the negotiated solution hoped for by U.S. diplomacy.

American relations with the other eastern Mediterranean ally, Greece, already has been strained by the Turkish invasion of Cyprus last year. Persistent Greek anti-Americanism, encouraged by popular suspicion of the American role in Cyprus events, now produces public cries of Greek approval for the same Russians who three decades ago were stopped by Americans from imposing Communist rule on Greece.

The Italians have a strong, efficient, and effective navy, working closely with the U.S. SIXTH Fleet, but their future is hampered by the Italian Communists who clamor for a strong role in the government of a nation seemingly always on the edge of economic disaster. If the unthinkable occurs, then Italy and its navy will become at best a highly unreliable partner of the U.S. SIXTH Fleet and NATO, and our naval facilities at GAETA will be in jeopardy.

The Spanish are experiencing widespread political unrest. Our U.S. base rights at Rhoda, long a controversial subject, could be affected by what happens when Spain's aged dictator, Francisco Franco, leaves the stage. Our base there is large and important to the transshipment of material and supplies from the U.S., as well as an operational base for our air, sea, and undersurface craft. Russia has been making an aggressive show of cordiality toward both Spain and Portugal, anxious to gain advantages from improved maritime relations with them.

As for the Arab dominated southern coast of the Mediterranean along North Africa, the United States can count few, if any, real friends there. It can count on real hostility, especially from harshly anti-American Libya. Ironically, for the first time in many years three American naval vessels of the SIXTH Fleet, including the aircraft carrier Saratoga called in late February at Casablanca, Morocco, Nabeul, Tunisia, and Suez, a hopeful sign of changing policy.

The Mediterranean must be regarded as part of the entire Middle East picture. Some day, perhaps not far off, the Arab-Israeli conflict, now the dominating crisis, may fade to secondary importance in the area as its newly rich oil nations amass enormous arsenals of sophisticated weapons, some supplied by the Soviet Union, some by the United States, some by western Europe.

The area is a maze of conflict. Iran, now powerful, abundantly supplied with American weapons and asserting Persian Gulf ascendancy, stands swords drawn with volatile Iraq, also rich in oil and heavily supplied with Soviet arms. Iraq in turn has territorial designs in oil-rich little Kuwait. Saudi Arabia, wallowing in oil money, distrusts Russian aims in the Middle East, fears Soviet designs in the Saudi peninsula where Russian arms are in the hands of guerrilla bands. At the same time Saudi Arabia probably suspects Iranian pretensions in the Gulf area, even as Iran sends military help to the Saudi's neighbor in Oman to fight those Communist rebels.

The Russians have drenched the mercurial Syrians with arms. Egypt also must lean heavily on the Russians for arms support, while the Americans arm the other combatant, Israel.

The entire picture has a look of a recipe for eventual explosion, and it could be highly uncomfortable if Russian and American fleets were at the same time on the prowl in the Indian Ocean at approaches to the route for the industrial world's vital oil.

At the present time we are vastly outnumbered by Russian naval strength. Our one hope is the spirit, dedication, and effective knowhow of those who command our Atlantic Naval forces as well as the on-line efforts of the SIXTH Fleet. Thousands of young Americans, guided by skilled and professional leadership in the SIXTH Fleet constitute our first line of defense. Oblivion or victory may be determined by this on-line group who need the moral and economic support of all Americans.

Congress should reassess its present attitude of holding the line on defense spending or the collapse of western defense and society will not be "if" but "when." The Soviets eagerly await our decision.

'Never in its 26 years has NATO been up against the sort of political dangers it faces today...'

Panax posts earnings

Panax Corp., newspaper publishing and printing company, has posted its 1974 sales and earnings figures.

Operating revenues increased to $27,242,902 in 1974, compared to $25,465,719 the previous year. Net earnings in 1974, after other charges, resulted in a net loss of $277,041 or $24 per share. This compares with net earnings in 1973 of $577,457 after other credits, or $50 per share.

In commenting on the 1974 operating results, John P. McGoff, Panax president, said:

"In late 1974 we decided to complete the conversion of all our production facilities to photocomposition. This involved two daily newspaper plants. Even though the change was not completed until March 10, 1975, the decision resulted in a write-down during 1974 of $264,684 for equipment obsolescence by conversion. In addition, we made a provision of $465,000 for loss on the lease of a building in which operations were suspended in June 1974.

"Due to a lag in advertising and circulation rate increases instituted in mid-1974 in order to catch up with dramatic cost increases for supplies, services, and wages, we had net earnings of only $31,971 for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1974. We have been encouraged greatly by the strong performance of our operating divisions since the beginning of the fourth quarter of 1974 in which we had pre-tax earnings before other charges and credits of $225,231, compared to $150,071 in the same period of 1973. Pre-tax earnings for the year 1974 before other charges were $640,315, compared to $1,077,319 in 1973.

"The first two months of 1975 have given us reason, despite unsettled economic conditions nationally, to be optimistic over prospects for the year.

"We are looking forward to the day when the Panax Board of Directors will consider the company's earnings sufficient to restore our quarterly dividend payments."

The last quarterly dividend was paid Aug. 20, 1974. No dividend will be paid with respect to the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1974.

During 1974 63 percent of Panax' revenues came from the operation of its eight daily and 28 weekly newspapers. Commercial printing and typesetting operations contributed 31 percent to the total revenue picture. Remaining revenue was produced primarily through its printing machinery sales division.

Associated Newspapers, which publishes The Daily Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Garden City Eagle, The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman is a Panax member.

State champs All-Area nucleus

PAUL GOOSBY

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor
How does one improve upon a Class A state championship wrestling team?

Well, mix two wrestlers each from Westland John Glenn and Garden City West with eight from the reigning Class A champ, Wayne Memorial — that's how.

Sports

What will one come up with? The 1975 All-Area team.

NAMED to the coveted squad are: Paul Goosby (Wayne Memorial), Agron Vasha (John Glenn), Gary Pate (Wayne Memorial), Mark Ellis (Wayne Memorial), Larry Michalik (Wayne Memorial), Bob Colaianne (Wayne Memorial), Fred Shoemaker (John Glenn), Kevin Rize (Wayne Memorial), Scott Renner (Garden City West), Rick Hislop (Wayne Memorial), Ed Willis (Wayne Memorial) and Jim Tucker (Garden City West).

The combined record of the 12 wrestlers is 440 victories, 85 losses and zero losses and no other All-Area mat team can boast a better record.

GOOSBY, who capped a three-year varsity career at Wayne by breaking the national record for most victories, was the state runner-up in the 98-pound class. He boasted a 47-1-0 record in his senior year and had a career total of 117-16-1. A repeat champ in the Great Lakes 8, Paul won all 10 major invitational tourneys he competed in this season. "There's not enough you can say about this young man," noted Wayne coach Don Haney. "He's the slickest wrestler I have ever coached and he would make a fine coach himself one day."

PAUL will be attending Eastern Michigan University on a scholarship next fall.

VASHA, a 105-pound junior, finished third in the state and also had a fantastic 44-2 won-lost record. He earned his second league title this season and went on to win regional crown. The Rockets' MVW and team captain, Agron will be the one to beat in the state when the 1975-76 season rolls along. "He's one of the best wrestlers we have had here in the past several years," said Glenn Coach Bob Lusk, "and he has the potential of being even better next year."

PATE, a 112-pound senior, contributed a sixth place in helping Wayne win the Class A state title. He sports a 39-12-0 over-all record and won the Great Lakes 8 Conference title before finishing second in the regional. It is his second appearance on an All-Area team. He has also been a medalist at every tourney he completed in this year.

ELLIS is another one of those Wayne standouts who came within one victory of winning the state title at 115. He settled for second best. Continued on Page A-15.

State champ isn't always
'the best'

By TOM MOORADIAN

If George Thompson Jr. or Lofton Greene made it to the finals of the Class B state tournament held Saturday in Crisler Arena, you can bet the two learned basketball coaches were "eating their hearts out."

Greene, the durable River Rouge cage coach who has won more Class B state basketball titles than any other man in Michigan (12 to be exact) and Thompson, a man who has guided Inkster to numerous district championships but has never been able to win "the big one" had, in my mind, finer teams this season than those which reached the state finals: Lake Odessa Lakewood and Mount Pleasant High.

TAKING NOTHING AWAY from the reigning champ Lakewood, who destroyed Mt. Pleasant 69-47, there were many coaches at the tournament who agreed that Rouge or Inkster could have beaten either of the teams on the court Saturday morning.

Does that mean there is a need for reform? A better way to pick the state finalists?

Not really. The present system—a process of elimination and luck of draw is probably the best way.

BUT, OBVIOUSLY, it isn't always the best team that wears the state crown.

Moreover, if Rouge or Inkster would have survived the playoff tests, the Suburban Athletic Conference would have had two representatives in this year's finals.

Highland Park, which shared the SAC crown with Rouge, captured its second state Class A title ever by beating an equally impressive Flint Northwestern team 85-76.

Though the odds are overwhelming, I don't doubt that someday the SAC will have both the Class A and Class B state champs in their fold. It just goes to show how tough that league is, when it comes to basketball.

STRANGE ISN'T it that you can always find a group of enterprising young men ready to cash in on the SRO signs for such athletic tournaments.

Tickets for the Michigan High School state finals had been sold out a week before the eight finalists met and officials warned that there wouldn't be any tickets available at the doors.

However, if the same officials kept their eyes open they would have seen tickets being sold at a premium price by Continued on Page A-15

Second team is 'slick'

A high school wrestler must face many challenges on and off the mats. He not only has to worry about making weight — a key to meeting his rival — but he has to "get up" psychologically and physically for each and every meet.

And 12 prep wrestlers who successfully carried out their obligations this season were named by area coaches to the All-Area second team.

These wrestlers are: Greg Johnson (Belleville), Lamar Sandusky (Romulus), Don Cicotte (John Glenn), Bill Ficyk (John Glenn), Dan Porter (Belleville), Scott Davis (John Glenn), Dann Holmes (Garden City West), David Rochon (Garden City West), Sid Parr (Wayne Memorial), Mark Grabowski (John Glenn), Randy Slocum (Belleville) and Ed Abbott (Romulus).

Here is a capsule sketch of each wrestler:

JOHNSON, a 98-pounder, who compiled a 30-3-0 won-lost record in his junior season, is considered an outstanding prospect for state recognition next year. "He's a real slick wrestler who can go all the way next year," said Belleville Coach Gerald Malecek. Greg won the Bedford Invitational title, Wayne Invitational and also emerged as the Suburban 8 Conference champ. He survived the district tournament, but not the regional.

SANDUSKY, also a junior, who amassed an impressive 24-9-0 over-all record as a 105-pounder made it to the state Class A finals but didn't place. He has three years of varsity competition behind him and next year also should find a niche on the state level. Lamar relies on his quickness and knowledge of wrestling — his finesse — rather than strength, says Coach Vern Logan.

CICOTTE is the coaches' choice for the 112-pound class. His credentials include a 23-14-0 record and a sixth place finish in Class A state competition. A senior who co-captained the Rockets to the Northwest Suburban Conference championship. A three-year performer for Coach Bob Lusk's team, Don was voted the most improved wrestler on this year's Glenn squad. "He gave us leadership," said Lusk, "and we'll miss him next year."

FICYK, however, will be back on Glenn's roster next year. The 119-pound junior wound up with a 27-11-0 record, the league title and showed signs of excellence during the year. Lusk feels this rugged wrestler will contribute significantly to the team next year.

PORTER was picked to handle the job at 126, though he was a top-notch 132-pounder, a weight in which he won the Bedford Tournament and River Rat (Ann Arbor Huron) titles. Sporting a 22-2-1 record, Dan's only losses this season were to Dan Ryan of Dearborn who captured the Suburban 8 title. "I'm sure Dan will make it to the state next year," said Malecek. The Tiger grappler qualified out of the district but didn't make weight for the regional.

DAVIS is another outstanding Glenn prospect who'll be back next season. The 132-pound junior brings to the team a 18-12-1 over-all record and showed outstanding consistency and greatness this year. Scott will be one of the top wrestlers in the state if he continues to improve at the rate he has, according to Coach Lusk.

HOLMES helped Garden City West and first year coach Stan Worrell claim a share of the Tri-River Conference title. The 138-pound senior climaxed a two-year varsity stint with a 12-9-0 record. He made it out of the districts but failed to survive the tough regional test at Trenton. "He was a pleasant surprise to our team," said Worrell, "and we're going to miss him next season."

ROCHON, a 145-pounder who captured the league title two years in a row, co-captained West's team. He boasts a 26-7-0 over-all record which included the Walled Lake Central Invitational championship. "Dave is a very strong wrestler," said Worrell.

Haney is still Coach of Year

Don Haney appears to have a monopoly on the wrestling Coach of the Year honors. For the past three years the Wayne mentor has held on tight to that title and refuses to hand it over to his area counterparts.

"We're losing eight outstanding wrestlers," said Haney whose "wolfpack" captured the 1975 coveted Class A state championship this season, "so this will probably be the last time I'll be honored with the award for some time to come."

Don't bet on that. He said that last year.

DURING the past three years Haney has moved his team up the state ladder from sixth, to fourth and now first place. En route he was named the 1975 high school wrestling Coach of the Year for the state of Michigan.

And what has the Wayne coach accomplished to earn such recognition? Along with the state title, Wayne also added their second consecutive regional crown, third district title and second Great Lakes 8 Conference championship, (the league has been in existence for only two years).

"We're very pleased with his over-all performances."

PARR, one of nine Wayne Memorial wrestlers named to the All-Area teams, has an impressive 30-9-0 record for his senior year. He was used in the heavier weights by Coach Don Haney and his contributions to the team also included the league title at 158, second at Walled Lake and fourth at Detroit Catholic Central. Sid's versatility made him a sure point getter at 188 or heavyweight as well as 155 — wherever the Zebras' needed him the most.

GRABOWSKI, another one of Glenn's "blue chip" juniors, is a 167-pounder who brings a 20-10-0 record to the team. Vastly improved during the season, Mark finished second in the league but didn't survive district competition. His forte is determination, says Coach Lusk.

SLOCUM will be back in Belleville's lineup next year. As a junior, the 185-pounder had a 28-7-0 record. He was the Suburban 8 Conference champ at 167, qualified out of both the district and regional to place fourth in the state. Definitely a serious contender for state honors again next year. "He proved that this year," said Coach Malecek.

ABBOTT, Romulus' junior heavyweight, rounds out the second team. He managed to win 23 out of his 29 matches this year but failed the district test. A 218-pound wrestler, Ed won the Walled Lake Central Invitational by pinning all four rivals. He was given the MVW Award for the tourney. He was second at the WW and third at Romulus' Invitational. "He has the potential of becoming one of the better heavyweights in the state," says Coach Logan.

Wayne has 8 on top team

Continued from Page A-14 but was first in the regional and also in the league. Mark holds another distinction: in three years of competition he has never been pinned.

MICHALIK was Wayne's entry at 126 who walked on to the mats 45 times this season and came out a winner 39 times. Though he wrestled at 126 most of the season, he captured the Great Lakes 8 title at 122, qualified out of the districts but didn't survive the regional test.

COLAIANNE also moved up and down the weight scale but he was the coaches' choice at 132. His credentials include a 38-6-0 over-all record and a league title at 129. He made it out of both the district and regional and was one of Wayne's rugged "8" who competed at the state finals, though he didn't place.

SHOEMAKER will be back next year. The 138-pound Glenn junior sported a 27-5-1 record and went to the state but didn't score. He won the Northwest Suburban title at 138 and his quickness and strength, combined with improved wrestling techniques, should make him into a serious state title contender next year.

RIZE is the only state qualifier who will be returning to Coach Haney's lineup next year. The 145-pound junior had an impressive 42-11-0 record this season and also won his league title, survived the district and qualified out of the tough Trenton regional. He didn't place in the state, however.

RENNER, one of two Garden City West wrestlers tagged for first team consideration, has won the Tri-River Conference title two years in a row. He made it out of the district to win the regional but didn't place at the state level. A senior with a 25-9-0 record, Renner is described by Coach Stan Worrell as a wrestler "who had cavernous strength and if he had wrestled as a sophomore, he undoubtedly would have been among the top wrestlers for his weight group in the state."

HISLOP leaves the prep mat scene with a 43-4-0 record and wearing a third place medal he earned in the state finals. Rick, a 167-pounder, also won a score of impressive tournament titles and helped the Zebras post a perfect 12-0 record en route to 10 invitational championships and league crown.

WILLIS also made up the Wayne contingent at the state finals but didn't place. The 185-pound senior amassed a 29-9-0 record and won league, Western Wayne titles while placing second at the regional.

TUCKER is the last of a line of brothers who have earned All-Area recognition over the past decade. His older brother, Tom, is coach at Livonia Franklin, while Steve is a student at Eastern Michigan University. All three were top performers at Garden City West. Jim, who is the No. 1 heavyweight choice in the area, brings to this year's team a 27-4-0 won-lost record. Hurt during the league competition — he had to settle for second — Tucker captured the WW title and also qualified for regional competition and was forced out of the semi-final rounds because of the injury. He will attend Ferris next fall.

hawkers outside the arena. One offered me two tickets for $20. And that was for the Class A finals only.

How these characters get a hold of tickets that are usually allotted to the participating schools is beyond me — and a lot of others. And the tickets are the real McCoy's. They aren't counterfeits or anything like that.

I remember an incident at Dearborn Heights Riverside last year when West and Coach Frank Plecas's Rebels played a key game for the Tri-River Conference championship.

It seems several counterfeit tickets to the game popped up. Someone with a printing press put in a couple of hours and came up with a reasonable facsimile but these were not official tickets.

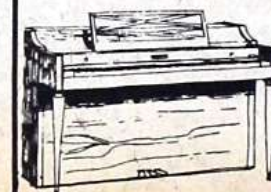

Those the hawkers had in Ann Arbor were the real things. How did they obtain them?

For the records, Bay City All-Saints won the Class C state title, eking out a 79-69 victory over Cassopolis and Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart stopped Allendale 65-55 to win the Class D championship.

Would you believe that the 1974-75 high school basketball season is now history?

And to get on the road to East Lansing, the site of the 1975-76 state championships, one must take his first step today.

Pre-Easter show draws enthusiastic crowd

EVENING FORMALITY — For that very special evening out when a woman wants to be really "in," she selects the latest in evening pajamas. In this case, modeling for Kureth's in last Wednesday's "Fashion Fling," Bonnie Moon removes the jacket on her candlelight polyester three-piece ensemble. The spaghetti-top, akin to the camisole, turns a more tailored look into sheer elegance.

FUNKY FUN — The He & She Pant Shop stressed funky fashions and funky hair do's in its segment of the Van Buren Recreation Department's "Fashion Fling" last week. Teen model Ruth Couperweith (the only professional in the group) wore a little sweater top in gold and white with soft tan slacks in that blessed wash 'n wear blend. Her hair-do was designed by The Headhunters.

Comments following last Wednesday's "Fashion Fling" at the Van Buren Township Hall's community room were so encouraging that the Van Buren Recreation Department (sponsors of the event) are seriously considering another show in the very near future. "Only this time," they commented,

"it'll be an evening affair since so many women commented that they had to work and couldn't come." The rec. department's first attempt at m'lady's wardrobe, her accessories and make-up as well as inclusion of the teen and kiddie crowds drew an enthusiastic audience of 150.

Opening with a three-gal panel, the show commenced with cosmetic cues from Pat Baughman, the local representative for Mary Kay Cosmetics. A former professional model, Ann Levee, also of Belleville, gave the group a behind-the-stage "glimpse" on what modeling is all about and the usual hectic and hurried pace the mannequins have to work under.

Kathy Rennell then displayed to the onlookers the ways and means of doctoring up the basic dress and pantsuit. Sales personnel from the store, Wanda Williams and Sue Harner, assisted with the quick-change artistry using belts, scarves and jewelry to transform a simple frock into one of many facets. With the pantsuit, she explained the use of different jackets, tops, scarves and accessories — the compact way to dress and travel.

The show got underway with the teen set, a group of five, modeling funky fashions from He & She Pant Shop. Janet Van Buhler, Debi Brown, Ruth Couperweith, Julie Nelsos and Donna Keyser did the honors for their age group. Sandy Cabana, whose Headhunters Shop featured funky hair fashions, narrated the teen portion of the show.

Then it was the wee ones' turn to "do their stuff" and Dancer's supplied the garb for Becky Chizmar, Hester Shoot, Cheryl Luebke, Natalie Higgins and Dawn Williams. Ann Levee was coordinator for the youngsters.

For Kureth's, which provided 31 coordinated outfits including jewelry, handbags and scarves, the narration was furnished by Kathy Rennell. Representing the women's store were Wanda Williams, Sue Harner, Bonnie Moon, Diana Moriarty, Trisha Piper, Berna Wertz, Leota (Sam) Engerson and Lee Smith.

Recreation Department planners under the director, Jeff Clark, were Maxie-Jo Haase, Jan Wyman and Irene Mushen. Others assisting were Betty Tontalo, Denise Ford and Suzanne Stabnau as hostesses.

INTERESTED AND INVOLVED — Not only was Pat Baughman (in hat) an interested spectator at the Van Buren Recreation Department's first style show, "Fashion Fling," but she was on the panel of consultants who spoke prior to the modeling. Pat, the local representative for Mary Kay Cosmetics, is shown with her first area recruit, Melinda McMahon, also of Belleville, who coordinated the make-up for the teen age fashion segment. Shown in the left of the picture is Eileen Kuchta who was among the 150 women who attended the afternoon program.

Ukrainian Easter egg technique called 'pysanky' demonstrated at Home Arts

This season's programs under the direction of Virginia Turney continue to spur interest and activity in the Home Arts Club of Belleville. Another excellent and timely topic, Easter eggs, was the subject of the March 10 meeting at North Junior High School.

But it wasn't the Easter egg the average American prepares for the spring holiday but "pysanky" — the intricate, hand-designed and colored eggs for which Ukrainians the world over are famous.

wiped off with vinegar to remove oils and greases. She then proceeded with her design using a "stylus" — a cone-shaped instrument which is filled with beeswax and then heated over a flame in order to draw the figures, each of which has a special meaning. The reindeer, for instance, means prosperity; the horse, wealth; fish, Christ; hens and roosters, fertility and the fulfillment of wishes; flowers, happiness; crosses, Christianity, etc.

MRS. BOCHENSKY explained that "pysanky" comes from the Ukrainian verb "pysatyh" which means "to write." A "pysanka" (singular) is a designed and decorated egg of many colors.

Pysanky, she added, are never made to be eaten. In fact, the egg is kept raw because it is a symbol of new life. It dries out gradually and can be kept almost indefinitely. The eggs are given as gifts, exchanged with friends, displayed on mantels or in cabinets and used as centerpieces — not only at Easter time, but throughout the entire year.

Every pysanka carries a message, she said. For instance, one with triangles, reindeer and eternity curlicues, would read: "In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, I wish you an eternity of prosperity." Ukrainian women collect pysanky as American women collect fine china.

The speaker not only demonstrated an old world art but came dressed in a native costume including an intricately embroidered white satin blouse, skirt with a bit of embroidered petticoat showing beneath and high red boots.

HER HUSBAND John, who accompanied her to the meeting, then gave an explanation of the "three days of Easter" in the Ukraine stressing the importance of the family's togetherness at that time.

Many of the club members ordered kits so that they, too, might try their hand at a "new" art form.

During the business session conducted by president Sharon Matthews, 25 members answered roll call and four newcomers were welcomed to the club: Charlotte Price, Joyce Phillips, Jeanne Betz and Frances Phillips. Guests for the evening were Elaine Burgess, Martha Brown, Frances Jobe, Bev Berander, Mary Loria and Barbara Jaszcz.

Announcements from the program chairman included plans for the annual spring banquet which will be held May 12 at Woodstone Inn.

Eunice Kause is in charge of the menu orders.

NEXT MONTH the club will hold its meeting in the Belleville High School science room. Instructor Richard Dokas of the BHS staff will speak on house plants. Members are reminded that this meeting will include a plant exchange and they may bring as many as they wish.

The evening concluded with Vera Nollf and her co-hostesses, Shar Tator, Bev Sparrow and Lee Smith, serving refreshments which followed their St. Patrick's Day color scheme.

Quotes worth quoting--

"With the growing awareness that women can accomplish things on their own, many will no longer accept the role society has created for them. And I cannot blame them. But at the same time, though I can understand their anger, their determination to go it alone makes me sad because of the joys a good marriage can bring."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER
Member By Invitation ONSM National Selected Morticians
HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS
"Nice to see you. Hope to see you at Christmas." Do you wonder whether ministers ever feel like saying that to the people they see only once or twice a year, at Easter and/or Christmas?
When you think about it, is it not remarkable how the glory of Easter has such a sharp but joyous impact? Even on the once or twice a year churchgoers? Is it not remarkable how the doubts and darkness of Galvary was followed by the brightness of the Resurrection? How it emphasizes the promise of life after death? How the message of Easter is stressed in individual meaning that there is nothing one has done that can not be forgiven; nothing that God can not correct by giving one a new start? Is it not remarkable how millions of people, on this one day at least, feel the presence of Christ in their hearts, mind, body and soul?
If these things are true, as surely millions of people believe, is it not strange how some people realize their retarded faith requires new hope on Easter — and then end such thoughts the day after Easter? Can you explain why the celebration of Easter seems to end so abruptly; why it is not a continuing experience? always.

With popular varieties

Choosing plants demands care

Since tomatoes, peppers and cabbage are the most widely-grown vegetables in America, home gardeners in Western Wayne County should consider the individual likes and dislikes of these three when buying transplants.

Cabbage, which is the first to be planted into the garden in spring, is hardy and will tolerate light frosts. Unlike tomatoes and peppers which are tender plants, cabbage can be planted about four weeks before the last frost date in any given area.

Plants should be spaced 1½ feet apart in a row.

Home Improvement

Miniature heads are not yet formed when cabbage is bought as a bedding plant.

Heads appear after the plants are well established in the garden. Even so, healthy cabbage transplants can cut six weeks from the growing time.

Broccoli is closely related to cabbage and can be treated in the same way with early planting. Like cabbage, broccoli will not form heads until about six weeks after transplanting.

Peppers and tomatoes cannot tolerate frost and so should not be set out as transplants until after the last frost date in any area. Tomatoes should be set out with several inches of stem buried below ground. The stem will produce additional roots and create a healthier plant. Bedding plant outlets often sell plants with flowers or fruit already formed. When these are placed in the garden, gardeners have an opportunity for an early crop.

Tomato vines need the support of staking. Left to sprawl on the ground, tomatoes will occupy more space and be more prone to disease.

Plant tomatoes in good supply range from giant-sized (usually red-fruited hybrids) to cherry-sized fruits. Yellow-fruited tomatoes also can be found at plant outlets.

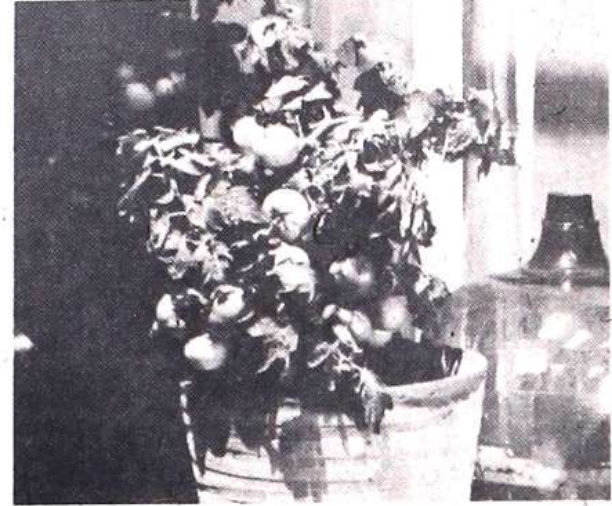

Although peppers and tomatoes are closely related and thrive under similar conditions, the stem of the pepper plant will not produce additional roots, so it should be planted shallow.

A sunny location and fertile soil are needed to get worthwhile crops of peppers. The pepper stem generally is strong enough to support the plant without staking, but when fruit is picked, care must be taken not to break the extremely brittle branches.

Sweet bell peppers are the most popular kinds in home gardens. These generally ripen from green to red, although several good yellow varieties also are available.

BIG HITS — Two of the most popular garden and patio vegetable plants are bell peppers (left) and the tomato, (right) and special attention should be paid to the individual needs of the plants when varieties are chosen for home growing. A little extra care in selection will pay off in good, healthy yields and a big savings in home grocery bills.

Get jump on garden chores

Indulge a growing case of spring fever by jumping into these lawn and garden chores:

— If your lawn has had severe frost heaving, roll it before it is completely thawed to maintain a level turf area.

— Fertilize shade trees and evergreens if you didn't do it last fall.

— Prune the old fruiting canes of red raspberries, thin out the weaker new canes and remove the upper 12 inches of the remaining canes.

— Have your garden soil tested for pH.

— Finish pruning fruit trees and grape vines.

— Sow seeds of annuals indoors, such as French marigold, sweet alyssum, dusty miller and flowering tobacco.

— Check stored tubers and bulbs again and remove diseased or rotted ones.

— Check houseplants and repot those that need it.

— Fertilize your lawn late this month or the first of April.

— Use a thatcher or rake to remove matted grass and other debris from the lawn.

— Dig and prepare flower beds, borders and garden areas as soon as the ground is workable.

— Seed a new lawn late this month or early in April.

— Transplant shrubs and trees when the ground has thawed but while the plants are still dormant.

— Prune hedges.

— Uncover, prune and fertilize established roses.

— Late this month, remove the mulch from bulbs and biennials planted last fall.

— Plant pansies and English daisies.

— Start uncovering strawberry plants.

— Start seeds of cold-hardy vegetables this month, such as peas, beets, lettuce, broccoli and spinach.

— Work fertilizer and lime, if needed, into the vegetable garden.

— Purchase flowering plants for Easter.

— Keep amaryllis foliage growing for good bloom next season.

— Start tubers of caladiums and tuberous begonias late this month.

— Spring flowering bulbs potted in mid-November can be brought out of cold storage for forcing.

Cleaning lawn mower is requisite for spring

Don't get caught with the grass up to your knees and nothing to cut it with — get your power lawn mower in shape for spring now.

If your mower is gasoline-powered, the source of a problem could be the fuel system, according to experts.

Unless the gas tank was completely empty or full to the top, evaporating fuel probably left gum and varnish deposits on the interior surfaces of the tank, fuel lines and carburetor. To remove these clogging deposits, drain the tank, fuel line and carburetor.

If the carburetor is really gummy, you may have to take it off and soak it in a commercial solvent or cleaner.

Other possible trouble spots are the air passages and cooling fins around the engine cylinder head and block. Be sure they are free of debris.

You should also drain the old oil and replace it with clean, high quality oil as recommended by the manufacturer.

If your engine is a two-cycle, check and clean the exhaust ports. Carbon deposits may build up there and cause the engine to lose power.

Don't forget the spark plug. Replace it if it's not damaged or worn out.

For personal achievements

Honorees collect awards, grants

Distinguishing themselves in various academic, professional and civic pursuits, several Western Wayne County residents recently were presented with a number of honors.

Among the more than 1,800 students named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Western Michigan University were Belleville residents Dale C. Noff of 326 Edison, Anna Alimpich of 44080 Michigan Avenue, Kim Hogan of 46200 Hull and John Thompson of 305 High; and Romulus resident Ann MacDonald of 9358 Tobine Road.

To be named to the dean's list a student must have earned a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale while enrolled in 14 credit hours of graded classwork.

Sharon K. Petrasky, a Belleville High School student and the daughter of John A. Petrasky of 45290 Harmony Lane, is among the 50 sons and daughters of Marathon Oil Co. employees who have been honored as the 1975 Marathon Scholars for outstanding academic achievement.

Each student receives a

RAIN FOR LATE BUYERS—Motorists waiting until the last days of March to buy 1975 Michigan license plate tabs would be well-advised to take raincoats and umbrellas when they go, if the "Old Farmer's Almanac" is correct. The book predicts showers for the end of the month, and the Michigan Auto Club predicts long lines on March 29 and 31. Auto Club secretaries Gail Mullins (left) and Brenda McElroy remind passenger car owners they must have the new tabs displayed by April 1 or face ticketing by police. To obtain the new red-and-white tabs, motorists must have with them either the prepared license application mailed by the Department of State, car registration or title plus proof of insurance.

License plate deadline nears

While it is that time of year which many area resident view with aggravation, having to meet deadlines for payment of taxes and purchasing new license plates, something can be done this week to ease to burden a bit.

John Barber, branch manager of the Michigan Secretary of State branch office at 574 W. Columbia in Belleville, said the long lines that will come as the deadline nears for purchase of 1975 license tabs can be avoided. "The deadline for purchase of passenger and motorcycle license plates is March 31," Barber said. "Lines will get along near that time, and people can avoid the wait by coming in now."

Anyone still needing commercial and trailer plates had better get into the branch office immediately, Barber added. Those plates expired the end of February.

INTRODUCING CALCULATING CALVIN'S CORNER

Greetings. Calculating Calvin's my name, and facts and figures are my game.

Triple-A has commissioned me to show what a great value a Triple-A membership is. I've been doing just that right out there on the firing line where the true value of a Triple-A membership is really put to a test.

Perhaps you've seen me on television? I've been up to my neck in mud, flipped into the wall on a Murphy bed and lost out in the middle of nowhere—and I've discovered that a Triple-A membership will not only save you a lot of money, it'll also save you a lot of grief.

I've discovered so many reasons why you should join Triple-A that I'm starting a special column called "Calculating Calvin's Corner" to tell you about them all.

Watch for it in this newspaper. You're going to find it very interesting reading. Especially if you're interested in saving $$$$.

Tah-tah until we meet again.

Auto companies test electronic gas savers

Major auto companies are testing miniature electronic devices that may boost gasoline mileage of larger and mid-sized cars by up to 40 percent, according to RCA Corp. Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff.

The computer-like devices could be mass-produced for

"no more than $100 a unit," Sarnoff said in a speech delivered at an Indiana University seminar.

Two auto industry executives confirmed last week in separate interviews by telephone that advanced electronic control devices known as microprocessors have enormous potential but they expressed doubt at the 40 percent figure, according to Los Angeles Times auto editor Dan Fisher. Sarnoff stated such devices could go far toward achieving President Ford's goal of cutting American oil imports by a million barrels a day.

General Motors confirmed last week reports that its Detroit Diesel Allison Division will build a massive industrial complex in Romulus, adding 12,000 jobs over the next 10 years.

The plan came to light when GM and Romulus city officials said the auto firm is seeking to expand the division in line with a new state law which allows a 12-year 50 percent property tax cut for business expansion.

The division currently has a Romulus warehouse employing 750 people and by 1976 will have a new diesel manufacturing plant in operation there with an additional work force of 1,300 people.

A new car, smaller and less expensive than anything now available from the Big Three, will roll off the assembly lines in General Motors dealerships for sale in the 1976 model year.

Industry sources say GM, traditionally a big car maker, is in the final planning stages for introducing the smallest mass-produced car sold in the United States in modern times.

The new model, code-named the T-Car, will list for about $200 below the lowest-priced car now sold in the United States, according to reliable sources.

The sources say the T-Car will be 17 inches shorter and 400 pounds lighter than the Chevrolet Vega—now the smallest U.S. car built by GM—and sell for between $2,200 and $2,500.

Home Start program to teach 3-year-olds various skills

A new educational program for 3-year-olds, Romulus Home Start, will be initiated on April 11.

Funded by a grant from the Office of Child Development, the project will bring 3-year-old children into the district's Head Start Center for eight Friday morning sessions in order to acquaint them with various social, physical and educational skills, according to Bill Smith, community school director.

An important feature of Home Start will be parent education seminars held each Friday morning while children are attending classes. In order to qualify for Home Start, at least one parent must be willing to attend four Friday morning classes. In addition, families who enroll will have to meet federal income standards.

Applications for Romulus Home Start may be obtained at the Board of Education offices, 38540 Grant Road in Romulus, through April 4.

Romulus Home Start is organized by the district's Community Education Department and additional information may be obtained by contacting Smith at 941-1600, ext. 37.

Mayor Amerman addressed all citizens in the City of Belleville regarding the notice sent on increase of assessment due to the 1973 paving program. Mayor Amerman explained that at the hearings that were held, the people were told that an increase on land assessment would not go up, due to the paving program, therefore the Board of Review of the City of Belleville, held March 11, 1975, removed all land increase assessment amounts from the 1975 assessment roll.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Water System of the City of Detroit supplies water to some 80 suburban communities at rates which are established by the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners, subject to the approval of the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Detroit; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Council of the City of Belleville have been apprised that the proposed 1975, 1976 Water Board budget contemplates an increase in water and sewer rates to be passed on to outlying communities, and

WHEREAS, it appears that a substantial portion of the additional revenues generated by this proposed increase may be used to finance capital improvements to Detroit's water system without any commensurate benefit accruing to the surrounding communities; and

WHEREAS, there is a possibility that the City of Belleville and its sister communities may be subject to unilaterally and arbitrarily imposed water and sewer rates increases without first having had the opportunity to voice their objections.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and City Council of the City of Belleville do hereby take this means to voice their protest to the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners, to Mayor Coleman Young of the City of Detroit and to the Common Council of the City of Detroit and do further request that the City Clerk send copies of this resolution to all affected communities in the metropolitan Detroit area together with a letter suggesting that they take a strong and vigorous stand in opposition to water and sewer rate increases.

In March, April

Early start means early blooms

Flower gardens in Western Wayne County can bloom a month to six weeks earlier if colorful annuals are started indoors in March and April instead of sowing them outdoors in late spring, says expert horticulturist J. Lee Taylor.

March is not too soon to sow seeds of petunia, red salvia, verbena, browallia and cynoglossum, Taylor said. In mid-March, start anchusa, annual chrysanthemums, delphiniums and flax, sweet alyssum, blue salvia, china asters, French marigolds, dusty miller, garden balsam, forget-me-not, heliotrope, portulaca, tithonia, thunbergia, sanvitalia, scabiosa, nierembergia, gomphrena, flowering tobacco and arcotot.

Plant the seeds of cockscomb around April 1, and African marigold, bachelor button, calendula, cosmos and zinnia around April 15, he continued.

With some annuals, you're usually better off buying plants than trying to raise your own from seed, Taylor said. These include tuberous rooted begonia, geranium, vinca rosea, snapdragon, ageratum, coleus, dwarf dahlia, lobelia and torenia.

'Keys' help lilies

A cool location, plenty of bright light and "just enough" water are the keys to keeping your Easter lily in blooming good health, according to horticulturists at Michigan State University.

Good drainage is important, too, they caution. So, when you get a lily in a foil-wrapped pot, punch your finger through the foil on the base of the pot to be sure the drainage hole is unobstructed.

To prolong the life of the flowers, keep the potted plant in a cool location where it gets plenty of bright light but no direct sunlight.

Use a soil mixture of one part good garden soil and one part peat moss. To eliminate destructive insects and diseases, sterilize the soil in your oven. Spread it in a shallow baking pan, sprinkle it with one or two cups of water, cover the pan with aluminum foil and bake it at the same temperature and for the same time you would bake a medium-sized potato. Let it cool and water it before sowing the seeds.

Plant large seeds two by two in shallow holes, about one inch apart. Then push the soil down lightly over the seeds.

Fine seed should be sprinkled lightly over the soil surface, Taylor added.

Label each seed box and cover it with plastic film to hold in moisture.

"Most flower seeds germinate best at a temperature of 75 degrees F.," he continued. "Check the seed boxes daily. When seedlings appear, in three to 14 days, remove the plastic cover and expose the seedlings to full sunlight. If the cover is left on too long, the seedlings grow long and spindly and become very susceptible to 'damping off,' a fungus disease."

If damping off occurs, it can spread through a crop of seedlings in two or three days, Taylor said. Control it by using sterilized soil, ventilating, placing seedlings in a well-lighted area and by using a fungicide.

For sturdy plants, fertilize with any complete fertilizer at half the strength recommended on the container, he added. Two weeks later, and every two weeks after that, fertilize at the recommended rate.

Water seedlings whenever the soil feels dry to the touch. Don't overwater — this forces air out of the soil and can be as fatal as giving plants no water at all, Taylor said. On the other hand, don't allow seedlings to get so dry they begin to wilt. Though they may appear to recover, their growth will be retarded for several days.

When the true leaves appear above the seedling leaves, the plants should be thinned and transplanted. Extra plants from large seeds simply can be cut off at the soil line. The remaining plants will be 1-inch apart. Fine-seeded plants should be carefully lifted out and transplanted one inch apart.

2. In Memoriam

SIX YEARS AGO, the 28th, our son Jerry was killed in an auto-train accident at Venoy crossing. Adair Kay Trailers blocks the view to the crossing and still does. The mayor & council promised to get an underpass built there. Westland is going to build one but Wayne can't afford it even with all this in hundred thousand dollars they're getting from the government plus our tax raise. Howard Watkins Family, 3496 Richard St., Wayne.

Some common sense about cars.

Buying a new car now is a good investment. For you and for our economy.

Compared to earlier models, our new cars conserve valuable fuel. A breakthrough in emissions control gives better performance and more miles per gallon. New cars require less scheduled maintenance, so they cost less to operate. And with today's higher used car values, the amount needed to buy a new car is lower than most people think.

When you buy a new car, you help America's economy. Your purchase can contribute to growth for the nation. It can pay off in more jobs, more revenue for government, more strength for businesses—large and small. This helps everyone.

Right now is the time to buy a new car. It's a common-sense investment for you and for our country.
